Production Team 2013

Generosity has always been considered one of the noblest qualities that can be found in a person. Our dramatic society depends on the generosity of its members for its overall well-being. As you can see one programme page is filled by the names of our terrific cast and crew and a full two cramped pages list all the support people that a project this size requires. We would like to express our thanks to all the wonderful volunteers who have supported our energetic and enthusiastic youth cast and crew. On behalf of ourselves and all our kids we would like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to Amy Pankratz, Richard Wright, Paul Clarke and Joe Arduini; who have graciously mentored all the cast, enhancing the depth of their knowledge, understanding and experience of the performing arts. All our adult mentors to our youth have given the greatest gift anyone can give another person: believing in them. Thank you to all of you for modeling patience, honesty, courage, perseverance, wisdom, responsibility and the nobility of generosity.

Directors 2013

We have all had such a good time directing Musketeer! The entire cast and crew have been so wonderful to work with. We would especially like to thank Cara Felde for mentoring us to make this show the best it could possibly be. We hope you enjoy the show!
